

Nothing Compares to a PROFESSIONAL BRAND

Residential garage door openers were once a toss-in item to sweeten the deal a new build. This is no longer true... homeowners are often using their garage door as the main entrance to their home and they expect the same quality, subtle presence and professional branding as if they were using the front door.

Marantec prides itself on a lineage of fine German engineering and American innovation that makes our systems not only the best in the business, but the easiest to install and truly worthy of "main entrance" status.
